

SEEDS TRUST

vegetable, herb, wild flower, native grass seeds

for a sustainable future

2009 Seeds Trust Pricelist

THE COMPANY

Seeds Trust is a 25 year-old family corporation dedicated to delicious home gardens, stunning native landscapes and saving seeds. We search the world's remaining seeds to find important, adapted, open-pollinated varieties. We then teach our customers to save their own seeds from individual plants doing best in their own gardens.

By finding and growing varieties from around the world, we act as a resource for thousands of gardeners looking for diversity and reliability. Our varieties of vegetables and wildflowers have proven vigorous, early-maturing, tolerant of a harsh climate, and also exceptionally tasty in fruit and beautiful in bloom.

THE MISSION

Our mission as a bio-regional seed company is to search the world to find seeds from the best varieties adapted to cold, short seasons. These seeds are tested in our gardens up to 6,000 ft. The most successful are made available to you.

- We are dedicated to the philosophy of sustainable agriculture.
- We are dedicated to supplying the highest quality seed available.
- All of our seeds are untreated and suitable for certified organic gardens and farms.
- All seeds certified naturally grown are marked with an asterik (*). Seeds gathered from the wild are marked (w). We continue the transition to certified naturally grown.
- We sell non-hybrid (open-pollinated) varieties. Seeds from non-hybrid varieties will reproduce faithfully as opposed to seeds from F1 hybrids which produce sterile or unreliable seed.
- We encourage and teach seed saving.
- We collect our wildflower seeds in an environmentally sensitive and sustainable manner.
- We have taken the safe seed pledge. We do not buy, sell or use genetically modified seeds.
- Every item we sell comes with our guarantee. Please contact us if you have any problems.

CATALOGS

We published a catalog as High Altitude Gardens beginning in 1984. In 1989 we incorporated as Seeds Trust and published both High Altitude and Seeds Trust catalogs. In 1998 we began using the internet as a more efficient method to reach our valued customers. We now believe the internet will allow our company to remain small, personal and family driven. We accept the fact some old and loyal customers will never use the internet to order seeds. We have found a way to print paper catalogs from the data assembled for our web page. We are happy to mail this to anyone for $4.00. We hope you support these changes. We believe we can serve you better. Let us know how you feel. Please use our web site to:

- Purchase a catalog online to be mailed to you or your friends.
- Download an updated catalog.
- Browse our web catalog page by page with color photos:
- Order easily and securely over the internet using our easy order lists sorted alphabetically by common names, botanical names or item code numbers.

INFORMATION

We have compiled information brochures on vegetables, herbs, wildflowers, wildflower mixes, native grasses and tomatoes. They represent 10 years practical experience and suggestions sent by our customers. You can view them online free or purchase for $2.00 each. They contain detailed descriptions and planting charts for all the varieties we sell.

SIBERIAN TOMATO SEEDS

We journeyed to Siberia behind the Iron Curtain in 1989 and brought back a treasure trove of tomato varieties selected only for freshness, flavor, earliness and cold tolerance. Some of the varieties we brought back such as "Sasha's Altai" have become world famous. Countless, superior, open-pollinated tomato varieties continue to be saved by hundreds of thousands if not millions of Russian gardeners grounded in the 10,000 year-old, human tradition of saving and passing on the best seeds. We continue this tradition by making available as many varieties as possible and teaching our customers to save their own seeds. Why not sample several as one would new wines, teas or breads? After all, it is a rare opportunity to partake of the earth's diversity in such a delicious yet important way.

WILDFLOWER MIXES

Careful, on-site observations in our trials and tests gardens over the last 25 years have taught us much about how to design wildflower mixes. Of prime importance to us are mixes that bloom early and maintain a balance of colors throughout the summer. Our mixes never contain grass seeds or weedy varieties.

We receive mail from around the world with success stories about the performance of our mixes from sea level to as high as 10,000 feet, from Africa to Siberia. Recently, our Heart Of Idaho was chosen 'Best Wildflower Mix' in an independent university landscape department competition that included 80 mixes from around the nation.

Even with our success, we realized the difficulty in designing perfect wildflower mixes for each of our customers. We usually don't get enough information about specific conditions. There are many variables in what we now call a "complex biological problem." Fortunately, our customers and some new technology have come to the rescue.

We now work with hundreds of home owners each year to help design and redesign "custom" mixes to meet particular needs and conditions. We compiled a data base to keep track of annual data. You can now call back, year after year, with suggestions about how to improve your particular mix. We pull up your history on the computer, add the changes and send the order. It is not unusual to get orders with instructions like, "give us 1/2 lb. of our '98 mix, add 1/4 lb. of '99 and couple of ounces of something blue."

NATIVE GRASSES

We have helped thousands of families landscape in an environmentally-responsible and cost-effective manner by utilizing native grasses. We regularly sell more than 30 varieties and have access to dozens of others. Call, email or check our web site (www.seedstrust.com) for current prices and availability. Receive a substantial price break when ordering 10 lbs. or more of any single variety and our best price when ordering unbroken 50 lb. bags.

GUARANTEE

Every item in our catalog comes with our guarantee. Please contact us if there is any problem, and we shall promptly and happily try to correct it. If not satisfied, we promise to replace any item or refund the purchase price. SEEDS TRUST is committed to supplying you with the highest quality seed and products available anywhere.
